MR. CLEVELAND IMPARTIAL. NEW YORK STATE PATRONAGE NOT TO

BE AN ANTI-SNAP MONOPOLY.

The President Elect Declared to Appreciate His Indebtedness to the Regular Demoeratic Organizations Here-Arrival of Mr. Stevenson in Washington-The Plans for

Mr. Cleveland's Journey to the Capital, LAKEWOOD, Feb. 28.-For benefit of the men who met in Syracuse nearly a year ago to protest against the regular Democratic Convention and who sent a delegation to the Chicago Convention on behalf of the so-called antisnappers, it may be stated now that Mr. Clavaland has recently declared to a close personal and political friend that he means to be independent in his distribution of New York

State patronage. He has not forgotten the misplaced zeal of the kickers that carried them as far as Chicago and then came to naught, nor has he lost sight of the showing made on election day by the regular New York Democracy. In fact, the situation in New York, aside from the silver legislation, has been one of absorbing interest and no little worry to the President elect. His selection of Mr. Bissell Postmaster-General was hailed by the Anti-Spappers as an indication that they were going to stand high in the favor of the next Administration.

In fact, they were ready to take care of all the Post Offices, and do a few other odd jobs, such as collecting the customs and internal revenues and attending to the dispensing of

'Mr. Cleveland," says Tur. Sun's informant, "told me that in his distribution of Federal patronage in New York State he intended to ignore factions and suit himself. He does not propose to declare war against the regular organization in the State, for, as a matter of fact, that was all settled at a certain dinner in New York before the election. "If the impression has gone abroad that the Senators from New York and their friends are working against the President elect in New York State it is wrong. Mr. Cleveland clearly understands the fact that some overzealous friends of his have been unwise in their boasts as to what they were going to do when he became President, and he is now firmly deter-as to what they were going to do when he became President, and he is now firmly determined to distribute Federal favors without dictation from any faction. This Mr. Cleveland told me in almost so many words."

"As I understand it, Tammany pitched in and helped elect Mr. Cleveland, and now it is making no demands on him. The men of Syracuse, however, feel that they have first mortgage on the good things that are to go to New York. They have already applied to the President elect for everything in sight, and they are now looking around for more.

"Letters in many cases have been sent direct to Mr. Cleveland at Lakewood not withstanding his notice that he would not be bothered with such letters while he was here. They have availed rothing, however, and if the writers were fortunate their letters are now on ille in the Mills building. Some of these begging letters have found their way to the waste basket in the Little White House. None of them will be considered until after the inauguration, and then, secording to Mr. Cleveland's present intention, an anti-snapper will receive no more consideration than a member of the regular Democratic organization. This will undoubtedly be a surprise and a disappointment to many men, but it is Mr. Cleveland's intention them. They were printed in The Sun two days ago. The special train that is to carry him and his party to Washington will be made up in Jersey City on Thursday morning and will consist of the private cars Baitmore, O'Brien, and E. C. Benedict and the ladies of his family will board the train at Jersey City, and a start will be make for Lakewood at 10 c'cleok.

Clock.

The train will arrive here about 11:30, and as soon as Mr. Cleveland's baggage can be put on board the train will leave for Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Freeman will join the party hero, and it is probable that the train will not leave and it is probable that the train will not leave much before I o'clock.

The cottage that Mr. Cleveland has occupied here was furnished by Mr. Nathan Straus, and the President elect brought very little furniture to Lakewood. If Mr. Cleveland were able to do so he would prefer to steal out of Lakewood without any publicity. He has prepared no speeches to deliver along the road, and, in fact, he has carefully avoided speeches from car platforms since his trip through the South.

Mr. Cleveland says that he has selected a few friends to accompany him to Weblieve

Bouth.

Mr. Cleveland says that he has selected a few friends to accompany him to Washington, and that the details of his trip can be of no interest to the public. From Lakewood the train will pull back to Red Bank and then to Elizabethport, where it will be switched on the main line of the New Jersey Contral Railroad.

S. M. Williams, Second Vice-President of the road, has made all the arrangements for the trip, and he will accompany Mr. Cleveland, an uninterrupted run will be made until a point within a few miles of Philadelphia is reached, and there a change of engines will be made.

point within a few miles of Philadelphia is reached, and there a change of engines will be made.

The train will pass through the station at Twenty-fourth and Chestnuti streets in Philadelphia at about 3:45 o'clock. Mr. Cleveland will make his headquarters before the inauguration at the Arlington Hotel.

Chief Justice Fuiler, in administering the cath of office to Mr. Cleveland, will use the same Bible that Chief Justice Waite used when Mr. Cleveland, was sworn in in 1880. It was also used when Mr. Cleveland was sworn in as Governor of New York in 1893. The Bible belonged to Mr. Cleveland's mother. One of Mr. Cleveland's wisitors to-day was Heary Villard. He came to Lakewood this afternoon with Secretary O'Brien and returned to-night. To The Sun reporter he said:

"I have heard a good deal about the Lakewood pines, and I came down to have a look at them. Any politics in my call on Mr. Cleveland's Well. I can't talk to you about that. You can safely say, however, that I am not a candidate for the Cabinet, and that is a fact."

Mr. Villard has been very friendly with Mr. Cleveland, and there is a good deal of speculation as to what he wants. Mr. Cleveland referred to his visit as only a social call.

Father Ducey of St. Leo's Church in New Tork called on Mr. Cleveland this morning, and he made a special trip to Lakewood for that purpose. The New, Wilton Merie Smith, pastor of the Fifty-seventh Street Presbyterian Church, was another caller on the President elect to-day. He is anxious, it is said, to secure the appointment of Chaplain to the House of Representatives.

STRVENSON IN WASHINGTON.

The Vice-President Elect's Triumphal March to the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.-Vice-President-elect Stevenson and party reached the national capital at 6:05 o'clock this evening, the journey from their Bloomington home having ocsupled thirty-four hours to the minute. The Vice-Presidential train reached Connellsville Pa., at about 8 o'clock this morning. A large crowd of citizens called to pay their respect to the Vice-President-elect, and a score of choolgirls boarded the train to meet Gen. Stevenson and his family.

In the excitement of the departure a dozen of the young misses were unable to get off the train and were carried three or four miles into the country before the alarm could be given and the train stopped. The Vice-President elect and his family were much concerned over the mishap, and the train was allowed t proceed only when arrangements for the train reached Cumberland about Felock this afternoon. There was the usual rowd waiting at the station. After leaving burnberland the special train made no stops satil Martinsburg was reached. Here the argest crowd of the trip had gathered. It blocked up the platform and the parapet shove, while the verandas and windows of the otel were black with people. As the train came to a standatili the Mar-rain was falling, and so the General contented himself with bowing his thanks for the reception from the rear platform of the car, instead of going through the usual handshaking pro-

There were loud and repeated calls for a speech, but Gen. Stevenson stuck to his determination to make no addresses on the trip. His failure to repond put the throng in a trifle of a bad humor, but the band struck up a lively air and drowned the vociferous demands for "just a few words."

Meanwhile some of the members of the escorting club had been decorating the locomo-tive that was to take the train into Washington. A lithograph of the Vice-President-elect in a frame of tri-colored bunting was placed over the headlight and a samiler one of Mr. Cleveland, framed in glass and wood, affixed in a frame of tri-colored bunting was placed over the headlight and a samiler one of Mr. Cleveland, framed in glass and wood, affixed just over it.

The tender was hidden from view with bunting, bearing the names of "Cleveland and Stevenson," while the dome and sand box were made gay with festoons of papier machd. Twoscore of small flags, attached to various portions of the mechanism, complated the decoration and gave the iron horsos gala appearance. No stops were made between Martinsburg and Washington, but at Shenandonh and Harper's Ferry there were crowds that gave a cheer as the train rushed by.

The train was due to arrive here at 4:10 o'clock, and at that hour two or three hundred people were assembled in and about the Baltimore and Ohio station to welcome the Vice-President-elect to Washington. In the two hours that clapsed before the train reached its destination the crowd had doubled, and when Mr. Stevenson appeared on New Jersey avenue leaning on the arm of Col. J. C. Berret, Chairman of the General Inauguration Committee, a loud cheer for Stevenson went up. Mrs. Stevenson, escorted by Mr. James L. Norris, Chairman of the Executive Committee, followed, and the whole party at once entered carriages and were driven to the Ebbitt House.

Among the crowd gathered at the station, were quite a number of ladies all of whom expressed the livellest curiosity to see the new official. Representative Williams of Illinois was on hand to greet Mr. Stevenson. There was no official demonstration at the station. Messrs. Berret and Norris were well acquainted with Gen. Stevenson, and no formality was observed in the greeting that they gave to each other.

The Illinois Club of Bloomington, which, with their guests, including ladies to the number of about one hundred, came as escort to the Vice-President elect, will occupy the cars in which they made the journey during their stay in Washington.

It is expected that the Vice-President elect will, for some time at least, make his home at the Ebbitt House, and the rooms on three rooms, a reception room, a bedroom, and a sitting room, or a library, if he desires to use it for that purpose.

The parkor is furnished in mahogany, with brown plush, as is also the bedroom. Folinge, plants, palms, and flowers lend cheerfulness to the scene. Curtains and drapery of white lace are used throughout.

Adjoining these rooms are the apartments of the Misses Stevenson, a hedroom and sitting room each, handsomely furnished. Other members of the party will be quartered in rooms directly across the hall, running from the end of the wing to the F street front.

Vice-President-elect Stevenson and party retired to their anartments immediately upon their arrival at the Ebblit House. The corridors were illied with people waiting to shake hands with the distinguished Illinoisan, but matters of a social nature were deferred until the party had somewhat refreshed themselves after their long journey. Dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock.

This evening the General informally received a number of Senators, Representatives, and proulinent politicians, who called to pay their respects and personally extend congratuations.

Besides the Vice-President elect and his wife, three daughters and son, the party is composed of Mrs. Stevenson's sister, Mrs. Sout of Lexington, Ky, and two daughters; George Easton and wife of Louisville, J. F. Fourd and wife, B. R. Cooper and wife, and James S. Ewing and wife of Bloomington, Ill, Miss Blanche Burnott of St. Louis, Robert E. Williams, Mr. Stevenson's law preceptor, and Congressman-elect Funk of Illinois, John C. and William W. Stevenson, brothers of the Vice-President elect, with their wives are the guests of friends in the city.

To-morrow night Vice-President Morton will give a formal reception to his successor. The Democratic members of the Illinois Congressional delegation will give a reception on Thursday night to the 110 members of the Illinois Democratic Club who served as an escort to the Vice-President elect.

The headquarters opened to-day will be a rendezvous or bureau of information for the brayes, who are located with the big chiefs at the Arlington Hotel.

Gov. Russell of Massachusetts, accompanied by his staff, arrived here this evening. The Governor will be the guest during his stay in Washington of Representative Andrew of Massachusetts. To-night Representatives Fitch, Tracey of New York, Brawley of South Carolina, and several other members of the Housewere invited to dine with Gov. Russell as the guests of Mr. Andrew. Next Friday morning Representative Bourke Cockran will give a breakfast in honor of the young Governor.

Mr. Stetson, the law partner of Fresident-elect Cleveland, arrived to-night, accompanied by the members of his family. They are quartered at the Arlington Hotel in the vicinity of the Cleveland apartments.

SENATOR MURPHY IN TOWN.

He Dined with Mr. Croker Last Night, and They Laughed Over Mugwump Stories. The Hon. Edward Murphy, Jr., of Troy. Senator elect to succeed Frank Hiscock of Syracuse, arrived at the Hoffman House last night on his way to Washington. Mr. Murphy was already decorated with the Tamman badge which will be worn by the 5,000 Indians on the great dress parade occasion next Saturday. Mr. Murphy will pay one or two personal visits to-day and start for Washington in the afternoon. He will be at the Arlington. On Monday next he will be escorted ton, On Monday next he will be escorted down the aisle of the United States Senate on the arm of Senator Hill into the presence of Vice-President Adial E. Stevenson, and will swear to uphold the Constitution.

Vice-President Rievenson will congratulate the junior Senator from the State of New York, and a fifteen years' light in the Empire State against the Republican party will have culminated. Ten years ago Roscoe Conkling and Thomas C. Platt. two of the bitterest Republicans that ever lived, were the United States Senators from New York State. They retired of their own, volition, and up came William M. Evarts, Warner Miller, and Frank Hiscoek. They, too, have passed away. All this is ascribed to the sturdy work done in New York State by Senator Hill. Lieut-Gov. Sheehan, Gov. Flower, Edward Murphy, Richard Croker, Hugh McLaughlin, and the machino they have perfected.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Croker dined at the Hoffman House last night. Mr. Croker also will go to Washington this afterneon. He will march with the Tammany men if he is able. He also wore one of the Tammany balgos.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Croker were very much amused at the talk in the Republican and Mugwump newspapers of troubs in the ranks of the Democrats of New York State. All the stories are a huge loke to them. They have not asked for a single appointment from Mr. Cleveland since election day.

Judge Gresham Back in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.-Judge Walter Q. Gresham. the coming Secretary of State, returned to-day from a week's trip to the East and a call on Mr. Cleveland. He did not come down to his office until noon, and the office seekers and friends who called to see him were com-pelled to wait their turn, and the list was a long one.

ON TO TRENTON TO-DAY HOT INDIGNATION EXPRESSED ALL THROUGH NEW JERSEY.

he Race Laws Must Be Repealed-A Great Meeting to He Held in the Assembly Chamber, and If the Citizens Are Locked Out. Then in Front of the State House, Thenton, Feb. 28.-In a heavy downpour of rain to-night big posters were pasted on the billhoards and fences of the city calling on all good people to come out to-morrow and take part in the anti race-track demonstration. The feeling seems still to be growing in intensity, and, rain or shine, there is likely to be a memorable mass meeting. Mr. Barrett of Essex offered a resolution in the House this afternoon, granting permission to the New Jersey Citizens' League to use the Assembly chamber for the demonstration, and although fully forty members voted in favor of the resolution and only a few against it. Speaker Flynn declared the resolution lost. Groans in the gallery caused him to throw his sharp eyes upward, but not to blush. Very few. if any, of the men who supported the race bills will attend the mass meeting.

The Legislature adjourned for the week today. The excuse given out for an adjournment so early in the week at a period of the session when it is customary to sit until the latter part of the week, was that nearly all of the members were going to Washington to see the inauguration, and they needed the intervening time to make their arrangements Their haste to decamp was correctly understood, however, and elicited from every side new and stronger expressions than have been heretofore heard. Vigorous efforts were made by the racing men last night to get enough votes to adjourn the Legislature sine die this week. They worked like beavers in the rooms of the members, and were still at it at 6 o'clock this morning, but they could get only twenty members to agree to vote for the proposition.

The other members had bills before the Legislature not yet acted upon, and they demanded attention for their measures. They got promises that their bills would be passed. but they refused to be cajoled by words. When their bills were acted upon they said they would think about a sine-die adjournment. So long as fair play is not shown them they will hold the Lane bills to repeal the race laws as a club over the heads of the racing men. When the House to-day adopted a resolution providing that when adjournment took place it should be until next Monday night, Mr. Hutchinson of Mercer moved that the resolution be rescinded, saying its adoption was due

Hutchinson of Mercer moved that the resolution be rescinded, saying its adoption was due to an agreement among the race-track voters, who wanted to escape the indignation meeting to be held in the Assembly chamber to-morrow.

"I know of no mass meeting to be held in this chamber to-morrow." said Speaker Flynn.

"Then you are the only member of the Legislaturo who is not aware of the matter," replied Mr. Hutchinson. "It has been advertised from one end of the State to the other. The people of New Jersey have repeatedly had a hearing on these bills retused them, and now they are coming here to express their wrath."

"They have received no permission to use this chamber," said the Speaker, "and the House will grant them no such permission. The superintendent of the Bate House has been notified to that effect."

Subsequently in the discussion the Speaker made acknowledgment of the fact that he was a strong friend of the racing bills, but declared that he had opposed adjournment for the week to-day. The House calendar was loaded with business, and he desired to see it cleared, but a majority of the members wanted to get away, and they had carried the adjournment resolution.

The motion to rescind that resolution was defeated—25 to 24.

Somewill, Feb. 28.—A rousing indignation meeting was beld here to-night in the First Heformed Church to protest against the race track legislation of last week. Yesterday and to-day Semerset county was flooded with the gambling monster.

As a result 1,000 people crowded the galleries and body of the church when the meeting was opened. Although the heavy fall of snow to-day made the roads well nigh impossible, the farmers came in large numbers from the country districts to help with their presence.

James J. Bergen, an ex-Speaker of the House, was made Chairman.

Ringing resolutions were passed, and it was ordered that a copy be sent to each member of the Legislature. The speeches were vigorously applanded. R. V. Lindabury of Elizabeth said: For the first time in the history of any State, the doors of the Assembly and Senate were to-day closed against the people. When the Legislature learned this noon that the people in crowds would throng the State House to-morrow to protest against the race-track bills, what did they do? They fled like a pack of frightened sheep.

"They adjourned at noon until noon next Tuesday, but we will go to-morrow. We will throng the old State House, built by our money, and there we can see thousands of others from this State and find out what they are doing, and then on next Tuesday we can go again to meet the cowards. We will meet them face to face. They cannot avertit. We will meet them, and we will meet them at the ballot box next November."

The meeting adjourned after 100 men had pledged themselves to go on the special train from hers to-morrow morning, which will leave at 10:15 and he attached to the anti-race track special at Bound Brook.

A delegation of 100 neople will also go from Flemington for the same burpose.

Petitions were circulated to-day in this town and Haritan, and over 500 names were secured protesting against the race laws. By the time the Legislature in adjourning has given the law and order people all the time they needed to get the people up in arms.

A committee of twenty leading men of the county were appointed by the Chair to take further steps in the matter. Fully 200 neople will go from here to Trenton on the special train.

New Brunswicz, Feb. 28.—An enthusiastic meeting of citizens was held in the Opera House to-night to denounce the race track laws. The Rev. Dr. John Woodbridge of the Second Presbyterian Church was Chairman. Rutgers College was represented by Dr. T. Sanford Doolittle, its Vice-President.

All the speakers were applauded to the echo and the whole meeting was characterized by the greatest enthusiasm. Among the memorials to be presented at Trenton will be one from the students and faculty of Rutgers College and the New Brunswick Theological Seminary.

PATKERON. Feb. 28.—At a meeting of the Board of Trade in this city to-night resolutions condemning the Legislature for passing the race track bills were passed. The meeting appointed a committee of twenty-live, headed by Dean McNuity, the pastor of St. John's R. C. Church, and John J. Brown. President of the First National Bank to attend the anti-race track demonstration in Tranton to-morrow.

Some of the speakers declared that the proposed reopening of the Clifton track would ruin hundreds of young men in this city who were now walking in the path of righteousness.

Ohange, Feb. 28.—An enthusiastic indignation meeting was held in Music Hall to-night to denounce the race-track laws just passed in Trenton. Frank H. Scott presided. The Vice-Presidents on the stage included the more influential men and clergy of the Oranges. Hesolutions were unanimously passed condemning the race-track legislation, and demanding its repeal.

Assemblyman Timothy Barrett said New Jersey was lying prostrate and bleeding, but not dead, at the feet of the race track legislators. He defended the action of Gov. Wertz in so promptly vetoing the measure on the ground that delay would not have bettered matters.

ELIZABETH. Feb. 28.—This city was placarded to-day with large bosters announcing the mass meeting at Trenton to-morrow to demand the repeal of the race-track legislation. The indications are that if the weather is not too stormy large numbers will go from every town and city in Union county. The League officers this evening issued the following notice:

"The arrangements for this city have been comploid, and the delegation from here will go on a special train on the Central Railroad at 10 o'clock to-morrow. This train will stop at Roselle. Cranford, Westfield, and Plainfield. Every citizen is urged to go, and, make the Newark, Feb. 28.—Notices were read in all the prayer meetings in the city to-night, calling for as many people as possible to go to I renton to-morrow to protest against race track bills.

In view of the fact that Speaker Flynn says that the Assembly chamber cannot be used for the Trenton meeting to-day, the Rev. Dr. Kempshall, the recognized leader of the antirace movement, said last night that if the people could not get the use of the chamber they would meet in front of the State House, in the street, and hold an indignation meeting there.

It is believed, however, that they will be allowed to use the Assembly chamber.

It is estimated that 5,000 persons will go to Trenton this morning from different parts of the State.

the State.

The trains leaving Jersey City for Trenton at 9:13 and 9:44 to-morrow morning will bear a crowd of citizens who intend to take part in the Trenton indignation meeting. The Rev. John L. Scudder says that at least 500 men will go from that city, besides a liberal contingent of wives and sisters of race track patrons.

POLICE CAPTAINS SHAKEN UP. Six Transfers, Including Devery, Who Caught Cardner,

There was another shake-up of police Captains yesterday, and as usual there was a heap of thinking in the department. The customary stereotyped explanation, "For the good of the service," was all the explanation given publicly. Superintendent Byrnes is supposed to be responsible for the transfers. He had a private talk with President Martin for half an hour before the Commissioners went into session yesterday.

Toward the close of the meeting President Martin announced that there were several Captains to be transferred. Then Major Kipp read off the list hurriedly.

Capt. William Thompson was taken from the Charles street station and assigned to duty at Police Headquarters until further notice. He will probably remain there antil the new station house in East 104th st et is completed. Capt. Josiah A. Westers it, who has been languishing with the Po :e Headquarters' languishing with the Po to Headquarters command ever since his find for neglect of duty, was ordered to the C of Hall station.

Capt. William S. Devery of the West Fortyseventh street station, From trapped Gardner, goes to the Eldridge street station.

Patrolmen John W. Boyle, Old alip to East Fifth Street; John Fitzpairick, Patrol to Madison street, and Livingston Hunt, West 152d street to Old slip. Sergeant William H. Fensions were granted to the following widows of policemen: Mrs. Adelaide L. Sweeney, $300; Mrs. Johanna Selig. $200, and Mrs. Julia A. Moore, $240.

YOUNG MRS. BLAINE MAY STAY. Dr. Edson Decides that Her Sick Child

Should Not Be Removed. Mrs. James G. Blaine the younger denied herself to all visitors in her barricaded apartments at the New York Hotel yesterday with the exception of Dr. Wynkoop, who is attending her little boy. As was told in yesterday's Sux, the child has been ill with scarlet fever. and when the hotel was closed flast week Mrs and when the hotel was closed flast week Mrs. Blaine refused to leave because she thought removal would endanger the life of her son.

The hotel people called upon the Board of Health, but Dr. Cyrus Edson called on Mrs. Blaine and decided that the child, although not very ill, was not well enough to be moved. He also found that the scarlet fever patient was effectively isolated in the Washington place wing of the hotel. So Manager Glover resigned himself to his late and made no further efforts to dislodge Mrs. Blaine.

The water and gas supply is cut off in the hotel, and all provisions have to be brought to Mrs. Blaine and the child. It is probable that she will not move for two weeks, or at least until the child is perfectly well.

The decision of the Board of Health overrules any writ of ejectment which might be secured from the courts, should the hotel people even desire to go to such length.

TO CONTROL SOLE LEATHER.

Leather dealers all over the country are about to organize a sole leather trust, by which they hope to be able to control the tanneries throughout the United States. The sole leather business presents peculiarly favorable conditions for such an organization, because no tions for such an organization, because no other business of such magnitude is in so few hands. It is said that fifty houses practically control the trade.

The prices of leather has been decreasing steadily since 1854, and last year it reached the lowest price ever known. The retailers, it is said, profited more from these conditions than the tanners or the general public. For this reason large leather dealers agreed to restrict the production sufficiently to "warrant fair prices." This agreement proved of such value that the dealers decided to form a permanent trust.

It is said that stock to the amount of $75,000,000 or $100,000,000 will be issued. Each tanner will be hired to superintend his own tannery at a salary. There are about 5,000 tanners and leather dealers in the United States.

HARMLESS WITH PISTOLS. LOUISIANA EDITORS DROP THEIR PENS TO FIGHT A DUEL.

Editors Chevis and Hicks Go Over the Texas Line to Finish Up a Controversy Which, Had Become a Matter of Personalities, SHREVEPOST, La., Feb. 28.-Messra, Chevis and Hicks, editors, have exchanged shots, and neither was injured. The duel was the result of a newspaper controversy that led to personalities between Editor W. C. Chevis of the Baton Rouge Advocate and Editor Cal. D.

Hicks of the Shreveport Progress.
Since last Saturday Col. Lombard of New Orleans and T. G. Reddy of Baton Bouge, who accompanied Chevis as his seconds, and W. W. Battle and Jake Hollingsworth, friends of Licks, have been trying to secure a settlement of the difficulties between the two principals The parties left town this morning, boarding west-bound passenger train. took place immediately upon the Texas and Louisiana State line, at Waskom.

There was a single exchange of shots, after which there was an amicable adjustment of differences, the principals and their friends shaking hands. On the arrival of the evening train a large crowd gathered at the depot to meet the duelling party, but they had stopped off at the junction to take supper, only the physicians, Drs. Vance and Randall, and the seconds coming to the city. There had been some disagreement as to the weapons to be used. It was decided, however, to use the been some disagreement as to the weapons to be used. It was decided, however, to use the regulation duelling pistol, walving all technicalities and adopting the code.

Only a few persons had knowledge of the proposed encounter, and even the relatives of Mr. Hicks were not aware of it until the principals and their attendants were gone.

The misunderstanding between the principals arose over publications in the Progress and the Adocate, which grew in intensity in connection with the action of Gov. Murrehy, J. Foster, and Auditor Heard in authorizing the Whitney National Bank of New Orleans to insert in New York newspapers that this bank would pay the January coupons of bondholders, and that the bank would be protected in such payment. In a telegram dated Dec. 21, 1892. Treasurer Pickett advised the Whitney National Bank that its action in the payment of the coupons would be governed entirely by section 7 of act No. 65 of 1892, which Treasurer Frickett says prohibts the State Treasurer from paying interest on the outstanding valid consolidated bonds after July 1, 1892.

The Advocate, as the Administration organ, defended the official action of Gov. Foster and Auditor Heard, and the Progress presented the side of Treasurer Fiekett in vigorous language. In an article headed "A Brace of Misfits," the Advocate said:

"The verdancy and asiminty of the editors of the Solo killer in that section of the State are extremely rare. We can't conceive how they have succeeded in chating the Insane asplum out of its legitimate prey for so long a time.

"Gov. Foster and Auditor Heard are charged by the fat-headed dolls with backing up a steal of the New York bondholders."

The Progress, in oriticising the editor of the Advocate in an article headed "A Monstrosity at Large," said:

"Better be an ass, whose unrestrained bray voluntarily discloses its identity, than the Advocate in an article headed "A Monstrosity at Large," said:

"Better be an ass, whose unrestrained bray voluntarily discloses its identity, than the boot-licker of the Governor, and, for the privilege of supping from the State's table among the hired servants and lackeys, is willing to cast untruthful assertions upon one who, like the wolf, prefers freedom, though accompanied by hunger and want, than sumptuous repast bought by servitude."

It was not anticipated this controversy of words would result seriously, and therefore the eagerness of the people to get at the details were intense when it became known that a duel would be fought to-day.

PAINTED THE GRAVESTONE RED.

Au Angry Father in Jali for Dishonoring His Children's Graves, GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 28.-Several months ago William Orr was sent to the workhouse for ninety days for ill treating his wife. On his return he found that his wife had removed the bodies of their two children from the old burying ground to a new one, having the deed in the new lot made out in her name.

Orr was enraged, and, procuring a bucket of paint, went to the cemetery and painted the stone over the children's graves a deep red. When asked for his reason for his action, he said: "I don't want my name to appear on that monument when my wife has removed the children without my consent."

The cemetery association made information against him and Orr is in jail. The penalty can be made a fine of $100 and a year in the penitentiary. the bodies of their two children from the old

During the examination Miss Force betrayed no feeling until her mother was placed on the stand. Then she gave way to convulsive sobs. ared shortly before 7 o'clock last evening on the third floor of 935 First avenue, newly built for a primary schoolhouse. The damage was $400. The cause of the fire, it is supposed, was a defective flue, to which was attributed the fire on Feb. 19, when $20,000 worth of damage was done.

The building has already been turned over to the ward trustees by Contractor Patrick Gallagher, but has not yet been accepted by the Board of Education.

CARTER H. HARRISON WINS.

CHICAGO DEMOCRATS NOMINATE HIM

PRICE TWO CENTS.

FOR MAYOR. Washington Hesing Dectares that the Nombnation Was Procured by Fraud, and He Will Bolt It-Hening Addresses the Convention Amid Much Excitement.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.-Carter H. Harrison was nominated for Mayor this evening by the Democratic Convention. The preliminary campaign had been the most bitter in the city's history, and Harrison's leading opponent was Washington Hesing, editor of Zeitung. De Witt C. Creigier, ex-Mayor, was also a candidate against Harrison, who had served eight years as Mayor, and who was opposed by every newspaper except his own. The scene just before names were called for nomination was intensely dramatic. As Harrison was walking across the big Central Music Hall stage. Hesing jumped up on one side of the stage. His temper was aroused, and, as he walked down the platform with his rival, he pushed Carter one side, and, raising his hand to secure silence, asked permission to address the delegates. The noise ceased and Hesing commenced. He was greatly excited, but spoke clearly and plainly. He said that two years ago Harrison had given him his word of honor that he would not be a candidate to-day. He had broken this promise as well as all others which he had made. The Harrison delegates were elected. Hesing said, by fraud, corruption, and dishonesty.

Hesing said, by fraud, corruption, and dishonesty.

At this moment Cregier, who was also on the platform, stepped to Hesing's side and grasped his hand. As the two men stood thus the delegates broke into cheering. Hesing's words were drowned in the noise, and the entire audience seemed to go cray.

While Carter was being scourged his face was rurple. Hesing announced that he was no longer in the fight for the nomination. He announced also that the primaries having been carried for Harrison by force and fraud, he did not, as a resultable citizen, consider himself bound by the Convention's actions. He announced, in other words, that henceforth he would fight Harrison to the death.

As Hesing concluded his speech he withdrew his name from the contest. He then, in strong and plain words, denounced Harrison, shook his fist in his rival's face, and asked every friend of his, every public-spirited citizen, and every German to fight against Harrison.

Mr. J. Bransfield was nominated for treas-

THE NARONIC EIGHTEEN DAYS OUT

She Was Never Before More Than Eleven Days Getting Here. These are troublous times for the world affeat. Even the swiftest of passenger steamships, accustomed to run almost on schedule. must give themselves one or two days' leeway, and the old-timers may not be reasonsbly expected to arrive until they are reported. But when a fine, new twin-screw freighter like the Naronic of the White Star line is out eighteen days, her agents have cause to feel uneasy about her.

She is finishing her seventh voyage, and she has never been at sea longer than eleven days. She left Liverpool on Feb. 11. Her last trip to Liverpool was made in ten days, and her last trip to New York in eleven days against head gales and high seas. Her sister ship, the Bovic, which sailed from Liverpool on Feb. 17, was due here yesterday. Neither ship has been spoken since she left the Mersey. It may be that the Naronic has been disabled and the Heyle is helping her along.

The Naronic has no passengers this trip, except about a dozen returning cattle men and men in charge of a stailion and pony, twelve dogs, and thirteen coops of fowls and birda, forming part of the ship's miscellaneous cargo. The stailion and pony are consigned to William Burgess of Trenton. The Naronic is built of steel, and measures 6,594 tons. She was built last year by Hariand & Wolff at Belfast. She is commanded by Capt. William Roberts, formerly of the Adriatic. An injury to her rudder would not materially delay her, as she can steer with her twin screws.

Two other freighters, the Ethiope, from Chinese, Japanese, and East Indian ports, and the Critic, from Leith and Dundee, are a long time getting here. The Ethiope, which is consigned to Carter, Hawley & Co., left Gibraltar on Nov. 4, and is twenty-five days out. The Critic is twenty-two days out from Dundee, her usual winter trip is about seventeen day.

All steamships that got in yesterday had had heavy weather on nearly every any of their passage. The Kaiser Wilhelm IL, from Genea and Gibraltar, shipped many seas, and several of her steerage passengers were hurt by being thrown down. The crow's nest on the Braunschweig, from Bremen, was struck by lightning on Friday afternoon. She is finishing her seventh voyage, and she has never been at sea longer than eleven days.

THE STORM OUT WEST.

It to Said to Be the Most Robust Blim of the Winter. St. Paul, Feb. 28.-A terrible blizzard, which equalled in fury the memorable storm of March 7, 1882, has swept over this section of Minnesota, and in consequence everything or wheels is tied up. The storm territory extends west and north as far as Fergus Falls, tends west and north as far as Fergus Falls, east to Duluth and Eau Claire, and 200 miles south. Electric and cable traffic in this city is stopped and no railroad trains are moving.

Dethor, Mich., Fob. 28.—Despatches from the upper part of the State show that the storm is the most severe of the winter. At Ironwood all business is suspended, and no trains are arriving or departing. Seweral trains are snowbound near that place. In the neighborhood of Crosawell trains are hopelessly stalled in five feet of snow, and the Grand lapids and Indiana road is at a standstill over its whole northern division.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 28.—Specials from all parts of the State show the present snow and wind storm to be one of unprecedented severity. In Milwaukee the thermometer is creeping zeroward, and the wind is blowing at the rate of forty-five miles an hour.

Why It Snowed Before It Rained. Far off Cape Hatteras, where there are no streets and no crossings and no fair pedestrians with black stockings and white skirts, the elements assembled yesterday morning and said one to another, "Let's depresse". They depressed and depressed until the polar bears left quite a draught, and the cold winds hastened southward to see what all the depression was about. In the course of their inquisitive journey they passed over New York and it began to snow like tarnation instead of raining as per schedule. When they had gone by it rained. ments assembled yesterday morning and said

She will be fitted with new steering gear before sailing for Hampton Boads to join Admiral Gherardi's squadron.
